

A Dedicated Pump Business.

EPG Pumps is a dedicated pump business specialising in the distribution and service of internationally recognised brands. Commencing in 1949 as Pacific Pump Company, EPG Pumps is now one of Australia's largest national pump distributors. In addition to representing leading pump manufacturers, EPG Pumps is able to design and install pumping systems, while also providing customers with service capabilities.

Extensive Experience

Over fifty years experience, combined with the ability to identify and meet the changing needs of the Australian market, has enabled EPG Pumps to develop a comprehensive understanding of the specialist industries where pumps play a critical role.

EPG Pumps understands industry forces, equipment requirements and pump applications across a wide range of industries including the water, wastewater, sewage, industrial construction and mining industries.

This ensures that when consultants, project managers, engineers and end users are looking for pump solutions, EPG Pumps is able to provide comprehensive, prompt, cost effective solutions.

National Network of Branches

With a national network of branches, EPG Pumps provides customers with local solutions that are supported by a level of infrastructure expected when dealing with a national pump business. In addition to highly qualified, experience sales staff and technicians, all branches carry a range of stock ensuring customer's needs are met proficiently.

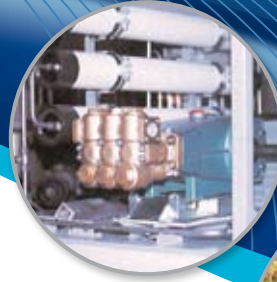

Service Centres

To complement our product range EPG Pumps operates a fully equipped service centre in NSW. Equipped with modern technology and fully trained technicians, the service centre provides repair, maintenance and testing services. EPG Pumps is currently working towards operating service centres throughout Australia.

All EPG Pumps branches stock a large inventory of spare parts, ensuring that customers are provided with a complete after sales service.

EPG Pumps is a dynamic distributor of a comprehensive range of international pump brands. In partnership with our suppliers, EPG Pumps ensures we are providing customers with an advanced range of pump products at competitive prices.
